PRESIDENT GEORGE BENSON
WITH COUGAR FANS AT CAROLINA FIRST ARENA.

TO OUR COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON COMMUNITY:

In 2010, the nation continued to face unprecedented economic challenges, leaving many public colleges and universities vulnerable to state budget cuts and declines in private giving. Yet, despite the recession, the College of Charleston demonstrated resiliency by outperforming national fundraising averages for higher education. Guided by our Strategic Plan, we made progress toward our goal of becoming one of the nation's top liberal arts and sciences universities. We opened incredible new learning and research facilities. We received national recognition in publications such as U.S. News and World Report and Parade magazine. And we launched new academic programs, including a long-sought-after MBA program.

The Strategic Plan represents the shared vision of all our stakeholders and establishes a blueprint that will guide the College for the next decade and beyond. It calls for us to maintain our strong student-focused culture while offering academic opportunities that are characteristic of a national research university. At the plan's heart are the College's three core values: educational excellence; student-focused community; and the unique history, traditions, culture, and environment of Charleston and the Lowcountry.

The achievement of the plan's goals hinges on a new financial model that requires us to become more self-sufficient and less dependent on state funding. We will achieve greater financial security through a combination of more private fundraising; pursuing additional corporate and government grants; and developing entrepreneurial, revenue-generating programs and activities.

Over the past few years, the College has placed renewed emphasis on private fundraising. As a result, our donors, friends, and supporters are more engaged in the College than ever before. Last year, total giving reached $9.1 million, representing a 10.5 percent increase over 2009 and a 27.5 percent increase over 2008. And for the first time, giving to the College of Charleston Fund exceeded $1 million.

While we are proud of these fundraising accomplishments, they don't represent our full potential. We have the ability to achieve much more. That's why I'm so excited about what lies ahead. The College is preparing to launch a comprehensive campaign that will generate critical resources for student scholarships, academic initiatives, innovative research, extensive student life programming, state-of-the-art facilities, and other goals identified in the Strategic Plan. Planning for this campaign has been and will continue to be a campus-wide collaboration to ensure that our fundraising efforts align with the needs and goals of each of the College's academic and administrative units.

But the campaign is not only about raising money. It is also about the College establishing a sustainable culture of philanthropy and forming stronger connections between the passions of our donors and the educational and research opportunities we provide to our students, faculty and staff.

As you read the student and faculty testimonials on the following pages, you will see that the positive impact of your generosity is evident all across our campus. Your continued support will help ensure that success stories like these endure at the College of Charleston for generations to come.

Sincerely,

P. George Benson
President

“The College is preparing to launch a comprehensive campaign that will generate critical resources for student scholarships, academic initiatives, innovative research, extensive student life programming and state-of-the-art facilities.”

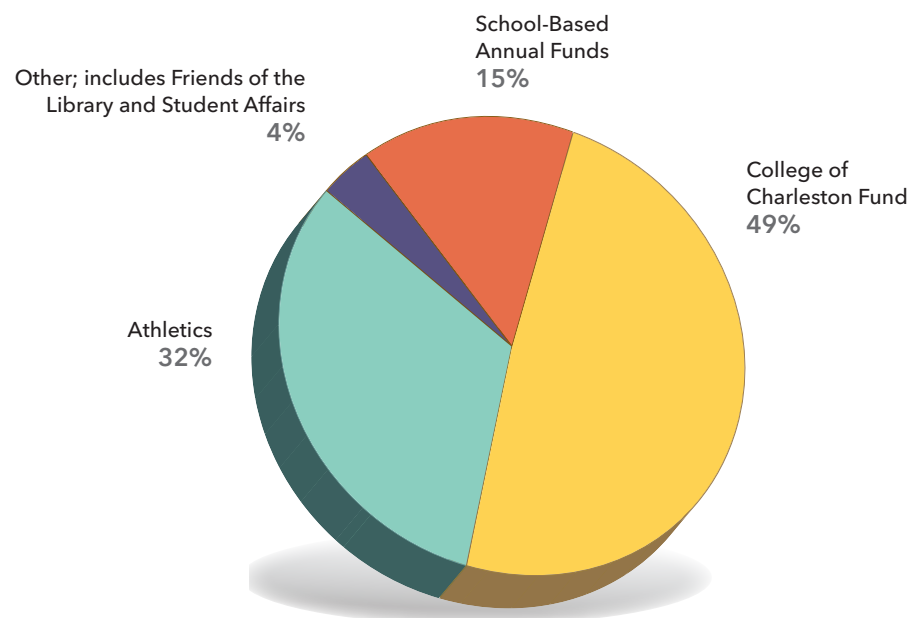

BY THE NUMBERS

Donors made the College of Charleston a priority through a number of philanthropic efforts. Once again, the College benefited from a year of generous giving from alumni, parents, friends, corporations and foundations who supported the College with annual, endowment, capital, programmatic and estate gifts. Thanks to your commitment, your vote of confidence and your generosity to the College, 2010 was a significant year of accomplishments.

“Hank and I love the College of Charleston for our daughters because of its reputable and comprehensive education. We give to the College because the students feel the impact directly through scholarships, and indirectly through the superior professors our gifts support. I feel that as small as our donation may be, we make a difference on campus.”

Each year, private support to the College of Charleston plays a critical role in preserving the College's place as one of the nation's best public liberal arts and sciences universities for quality education, student life and affordability. Private philanthropy touches every corner of campus, from student scholarships and research funds for faculty to cutting-edge technology. The impact of your gifts reaches across South Carolina and the world. Meet the students, faculty, programs and places impacted by your gift.

ANITA ZUCKER PLEDGES $1.5 MILLION TO LAUNCH ZUCKER/ GOLDBERG HOLOCAUST EDUCATION INITIATIVE

The gift endows professor Ted Rosengarten as chair of Holocaust Studies. Rosengarten has been a student of the Holocaust for more than 50 years.

It also provides funding for Holocaust education initiatives, such as travel to Eastern Europe, research opportunities for students, the development of Holocaust archives and public programming.

“With this gift, Jerry and I and our families want to honor our parents and the countless victims and survivors of the Holocaust. We want their legacy to be the importance of helping others, even in the face of unspeakable evil. It is my hope that we will send this message through this initiative.” – Anita Zucker

“Participation of our alumni is critical to advancing the School of Business across South Carolina, the country and around the world.”

– Anonymous donor, member of
School of Business Board of Governors

ANONYMOUS DONOR CHALLENGES SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ALUMNI TO GIVE BACK

An anonymous School of Business Board of Governors member offered to make a $25,000 gift to the School if its alumni could raise an additional $25,000 in new gifts by December 31, 2010. A total of $76,045 was raised, including the donor's gift of $25,000. The Challenge raised $40,395 in new gifts from alumni. The funds will go primarily towards increasing funding for student scholarships and faculty development.

COLLEGE RECEIVES $140,000 GRANT FROM THE GAYLORD AND DOROTHY DONNELLEY FOUNDATION

In November, the College of Charleston Foundation received a $140,000 grant from the Gaylord and Dorothy Donnelley Foundation to create and execute a strategic, comprehensive forestry management plan for the forests, woodlands, meadows and tidal marshes that comprise the Center for Environmental Research and Public Policy at Dixie. The grant will be awarded over the next three years.

“This grant will further enable the Foundation and the College’s mission to protect and preserve this vital Lowcountry habitat while providing educational benefits for students, faculty and the community for generations to come.”

– George P. Watt, executive director, College of Charleston Foundation

“I never imagined I could go to school to study something I love so much or that I would meet so many people (fellow classmates and faculty) who share my passion for living and promoting a healthy lifestyle.” – Nancy Lauren Bridgers '12

DONORS AND FOUNDATIONS SUPPORT STUDENT SCHOLARSHIPS IN 2010

Parents Craig and Frances Lindner made a $76,000 gift last fall to the College of Charleston Fund in support of student scholarships. With each student who gets an opportunity to discover his or her potential, the College demonstrates what this extraordinary institution can do for our community and our world. Gifts to the College of Charleston Fund change lives.

Private foundations like the Lettie Pate Whitehead Foundation also supported student scholarships. Lauren Bridgers '12, pictured lower left, is a 2010-2011 Lettie Pate Whitehead scholarship recipient. Lauren is an exercise science major and plans to attend the Medical University of South Carolina's accelerated nursing program next January. Upon completion of the program, Bridgers hopes to work as a registered nurse in a hospital setting or a nursing home.

“The new MBA program was my first choice based on my undergraduate experience here. I knew the program would be exceptional, and it is. The professors really challenge me and the coursework has the rhythm of a real job. I will be much more competitive in the job market.” – Kathryn Metscher '10

PRIVATE PHILANTHROPY HELPS LAUNCH COLLEGE'S ACCELERATED MBA PROGRAM

Kathryn is one of 24 students who make up the inaugural MBA class of 2010-2011.

The accelerated MBA program is the only one of its kind in South Carolina.

US News and World Report ranks the College's MBA program in the top 100 in the U.S. The ranking criteria include average undergraduate GPA and GMAT scores, acceptance rate, full-time enrollment and other items.

JAN GAMBARDILLA '11, SCHOTTLAND SCHOLAR

Jan Gambardella is a business administration major with a focus in marketing. This summer, Jan was accepted into the Schottland Scholars program. As one of only four seniors in the program, she has spent her senior year working with a business mentor in the Charleston community. The year-long business immersion program has helped Gambardella '11 better define her career path and aspirations after graduation.

"I'm a very different person today than when I arrived here as a freshman. Today, I can call myself a leader."

- Jan Gambardella '11

"The INBRE grant has allowed the College to recruit superb new faculty in the biology and chemistry departments, equip them with cutting-edge instrumentation, and facilitate student training and faculty research in human health related fields supported by the National Institutes of Health."

- Mike Auerbach, dean of the School of Sciences and Mathematics

BONNER LEADERS PROGRAM RECEIVES ANONYMOUS SUPPORT

The mission of the Bonner Leaders Program is to transform the lives of students, the life of their campuses, their local communities and the world through service and leadership. The Bonner Leaders Program gave Shanell Ransom '13 access to a College of Charleston education. She balances school work and service by working in the College's Center for Civic Engagement and at the City of Charleston's Therapeutic Recreation program as a coach.

"I have achieved professional experiences in my very first year at the College - experiences that would have taken me four years to earn at another university. Bonner Leaders is my life. It is my family."

- Shanell Ransom '13

THE COLLEGE IS ONE OF TEN SOUTH CAROLINA UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES TO RECEIVE A $16 MILLION BIOMEDICAL RESEARCH GRANT

The funding comes from the National Center for Research Resources (NCRR), a division of the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The grant will provide five years of funding for the S.C. Idea Networks of Biomedical Research Excellence (INBRE), a network of academic institutions working together to enhance biomedical-research infrastructure and increase the competitiveness of researchers in the state.

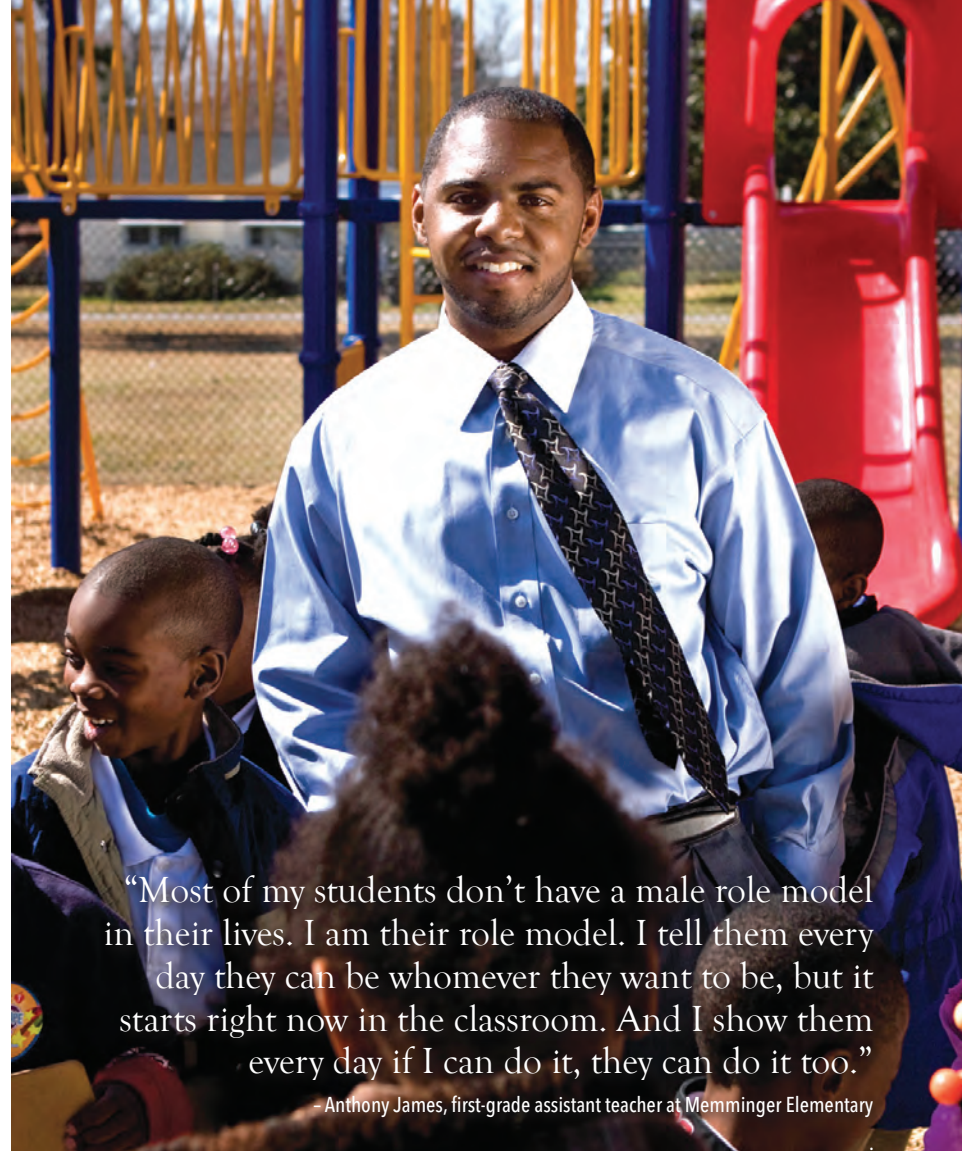

The theme of the College of Charleston project is "Building Biomedical Research Opportunities in Genetics, Neurobiology, and Chemical Biology."

CHRIS FRAGILE, 2010 DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH AWARD WINNER

Chris Fragile has published over 30 articles, given more than 20 talks at national and international meetings, and has been awarded more than a half million dollars in research grants. Much of his work uses supercomputers to understand the physics of accretion onto black holes, a process that is responsible for some of the most powerful and energetic phenomena in the universe.

Last year, Fragile and his students traveled to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California to collect additional data and attended the American Astronomers Society conference in Washington, D.C. to present their research findings to an international audience.

“The College is a champion of undergraduate research. Students here have the opportunity to play a role and contribute to national-level research.” – Chris Fragile, physics professor

“Most of my students don’t have a male role model in their lives. I am their role model. I tell them every day they can be whomever they want to be, but it starts right now in the classroom. And I show them every day if I can do it, they can do it too.”

– Anthony James, first-grade assistant teacher at Memminger Elementary

ANTHONY JAMES, RECIPIENT OF CHARLES AND ANDREA VOLPE FELLOWSHIP SCHOLARSHIP IN 2010

The purpose of the Volpe Fellowship is to improve the achievements of African American PK-8 students in South Carolina by providing financial assistance and support for African American male PK-8 teacher-education candidates. Teacher candidates pursue a masters in arts and teaching at the College and work as a teacher’s assistant in a Charleston County School District classroom for two years.

The College celebrates a 2010 Volpe Fellowship recipient in memory of Charles Volpe’s passing in March 2010. Volpe was a remarkable man in the Charleston community and a beloved philanthropist of the College.

“This is a remarkable collection that reflects not just the joys of fishing across three centuries, but offers insight into the environmental issues that challenge us today. This is by far the finest collection in the Southeast.”

– David Cohen, dean of libraries and dean of the School of Languages, Cultures and World Affairs

ADDLESTONE LIBRARY RECEIVES RARE ANGLING COLLECTION

The collection, compiled by Greville Haslam, is made up of 2,250 angling and sporting books published in Great Britain and the U.S. starting in the 17th century.

Haslam was born in Nova Scotia, educated at MIT and was the headmaster at Episcopal Academy in Pennsylvania for nearly 40 years. He spent his free time in the early 20th century traveling the world, hunting and fishing and keeping very detailed notes about his journeys.

The remarkable collection was donated by Howard and Mary Phipps and is on exhibit at the Addlestone Library in Special Collections.

EMILY DEVOIE '11, RECIPIENT OF THE 2010- 2011 HARRY W. FREEMAN JR. SCHOLARSHIP GIVEN BY THE COLLEGE'S ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

“Two experiences here at the College changed my life. The first was my study abroad experience in Cuba. The second was the Literacy Outreach Initiative this fall. I found my passion, and it is teaching.”

– Emily DeVoe '11

MICHAEL W. HAGA ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP FOR ART HISTORY

Michael W. Haga is the associate dean of the School of the Arts and has taught art history at the College for more than 10 years. Donor Andree Caldwell developed a professional relationship with Haga through her work at the College. Caldwell was inspired by Haga's passion for art history.

“This scholarship will give art history students the opportunity to cover tuition and the costs of international travel – vital experience for young art historians.”

– Andree Caldwell, donor

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION AWARDS $2.3 MILLION GRANT TO HELP FUND R.E.A.C.H. PROGRAM

The R.E.A.C.H. (Realizing Educational and Career Hopes) program at the College of Charleston is a new, four-year postsecondary program for adults with intellectual disabilities who desire inclusion in the academic, professional, residential and social college experiences in a supportive environment.

The College is one of only two colleges in the country that offers a four-year program with on-campus living. Six students were a part of the inaugural class in 2010.

“The most important thing R.E.A.C.H students are learning is that they do have the ability to learn, study and grow. But they’ve also had to learn self-confidence and to believe in themselves. I’ve seen drastic changes in them.”

– Edie Cusack, R.E.A.C.H. director

STEVE '89 AND EMILY MOLONY SWANSON '89 IMPACT CHALLENGE IGNITES LEADERSHIP GIVING

The College of Charleston Fund raised more than $1,050,000 in 2010 to support vital scholarships, faculty-advancement programs and leadership opportunities for our alumni. This milestone was thanks in part to the Steve '89 and Emily Molony Swanson '89 Impact Challenge, which matched donors 1:1 at leadership giving levels and attracted more than 100 new 1770 Society and GOLD Society donors.

“My education at the College was made possible by a scholarship, that’s why it seems so utterly natural to give back to the place that gave me so much.”

– Steve Swanson '89

“Umberto is a wonderful addition to the College of Charleston women’s equestrian team. Former Olympian Peter Leone suggested to the Keegans that they should look at the College of Charleston as a possible home for “Bert.” The Keegans were inspired by the national reputation of the riding team, the care of the animals and the climate.”

– Bob Story, women’s equestrian coach

COLLEGE’S EQUESTRIAN TEAM ACQUIRES CHAMPION GELDING

The equestrian team’s national standings include:

- 11-time IHSA Region 9 champions
- 2010 individual novice flat national champion
- 21 top 10 finishes at nationals in the last 22 years

NEAL AND ELIZABETH BAKER PLEDGE $400,000 TO MEN'S GOLF PROGRAM

The golf team's national standings include:

- 2010 SoCon Champions and NCAA Tournament finalists
- John Duke Hudson qualified for U.S. Amateurs in 2010

"The Baker gift is tremendous for our program. Its primary use will be to host a premier college golf tournament at the Ocean Course on Kiawah Island to attract the top programs in the country to Charleston. This will also allow us to keep our schedule strong against the best teams in Division I college golf."

- Mark McEntire, men's golf coach

"We dance for the kids. We dance for Mia, for Clifford, for Thomas!"

- Sam Malone '11

STUDENT PHILANTHROPY DANCES TO A DIFFERENT BEAT

Dance Marathon is the College of Charleston's largest student-run philanthropic event benefiting the Medical University of South Carolina (M.U.S.C.) Children's Hospital and Children's Miracle Network. For 15 hours in the Carolina First Arena, students dance together in order to gain a greater understanding and appreciation for the struggles children in the hospital face every day. In 2010, students raised more than $70,000 for M.U.S.C. Children's Hospital.

JOE CARSON RECEIVES A $287,000 GRANT FROM THE NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

This fall, Joe Carson (who only arrived on campus in June from the Max Planck Institute for Astronomy in Germany) received a $287,000 National Science Foundation grant for research of extra-solar planets. Carson is one of a group of international scientists to capture a snapshot showing the birth of a planet system around a young star. The discovery marks an important step in efforts to unlock the mysteries surrounding the development of planets. His research was one of the Top 10 scientific discoveries of 2009 in Time magazine.

"I came to the College because I could teach and conduct my research. Teaching gives me the opportunity to think differently about my subject and break down complex concepts into very elementary ideas, and that is very satisfying."

- Joe Carson, astronomy professor

1770 SOCIETY

Taking its name from the year that the College of Charleston was founded, the 1770 Society represents alumni, parents, faculty, staff, students, friends, corporations and foundation partners who contribute $1,000 or more each year to the College. 1770 Society donors provide leadership in their designation of annual support across campus. Gifts at the 1770 Society level fund scholarships, leadership-based student programming, athletics, research initiatives and ground-breaking technology in the arts and sciences. Since the 1770 Society was established in 2003, donors' commitments have been essential to advancing the mission of the College.

1770 Society levels of annual support:

GOLD SOCIETY

The GOLD (Graduates of the Last Decade) Society recognizes young alumni donors who contribute $250 or more annually to the College of Charleston. GOLD Society level gifts are a vote of confidence in the values of the College of Charleston and demonstrate an annual commitment to make the College a philanthropic priority. GOLD Society gifts have the power to help today's students define their own College of Charleston experience.

LIVE OAK SOCIETY

Taking its name from the majestic live oak trees that make the College's campus so distinct, the Live Oak Society recognizes our most loyal donors (those who give consecutively for 5 years or more) and provides the roots of the College's philanthropic foundation. Live Oak Society donors are leaders in making the College of Charleston a priority year after year and their generosity continues to advance the College in its pursuit to be the Southeast's leading public liberal arts and sciences university.
